

WHAT IF?

When the land mobile radio industry was at an impasse as to whether to move forward with the 800 MHz rebanding program, the Firm conceptualized the "what-if" rule, which was adopted by the FCC, to address interference after the rebanding program is completed. The rule, already in use, has been successfully used by many public safety licensees.

PRACTICE AREAS

Telecommunications