

Blues musician “Mighty” Mo Rodgers, a client of Shulman Rogers, has been nominated for five Grammy Awards. These nominations are for: Best Blues Album (Cadillac Jack); Best Traditional R&B Performance (Slow Dance With Me); Best Arrangement Accompanying Vocals (Cadillac Jack); and Best R&B Song (Black Coffee and Cigarettes).

The agreement for the release of the album (Cadillac Jack) was negotiated by Alan Tilles, Chairman of the Firm’s Entertainment Practice Group. “Mo Rodgers is a unique talent,” said Mr. Tilles. “We are pleased that Mo is receiving the accolades in the U.S. that he has been receiving for many years in Europe.”

The Shulman Rogers Entertainment Practice Group represents a variety of entertainers, and serves as counsel for legendary artists such as Ambrosia, concert pianist Aglaia Koras and world-class close-up magician Jamy Ian Swiss.
