Respected Real Estate Lawyer Marc Bergoffen Joins Shulman Rogers

Potomac, MD (September 16, 2014) – Shulman Rogers is pleased to announce that respected real estate lawyer Marc B. Bergoffen has joined the firm as Shareholder and member of the firm's flourishing real estate practice group.

Bergoffen brings over 15 years of experience in representing public and private sector clients in a broad range of real estate transactions throughout Washington D.C., Maryland and Virginia.

"Marc has been across the table from many of our real estate attorneys, and we can attest that his professionalism and legal skills are first-class. Those attributes, along with his leadership in the field of real estate law, make him a perfect match with our culture, our guiding principles, and long term business strategy," said Managing Shareholder, Sam Spiritos.

Bergoffen's capabilities span a wide range of transactional real estate matters, including commercial leasing, acquisitions and dispositions, asset management, and financing of various real estate property types. His corporate transactional experience extends to restaurants and other start-up businesses. He also has extensive experience working on public-private partnerships for transit-oriented developments. Bergoffen is active in the Maryland State Bar Association where he is the current Chair of the Real Property Section.
