Daniel Cohen is customer-centric and deadline-driven. Clients and colleagues alike benefit from his analytical thinking, responsiveness and results-oriented initiative. With each deal, he delivers results efficiently and with an attention to detail that exceeds his clients' expectations.

Passionate about real estate, Daniel focuses his practice on all areas relating to the purchase and acquisition of real estate. He has experience drafting, reviewing and negotiating contracts, agreements, security documents, lender documents, amendments and other documents on behalf of local, regional and national clients.

Daniel's broad experience includes advising clients in acquisitions and dispositions, joint ventures and financings of real estate projects throughout the United States as well as in multi-national transactions. In addition, he counsels clients with distressed real estate and has handled a variety of sophisticated, high-value transactions involving landmark properties and trophy assets.

An American-Israeli national, Daniel has many ties in the Israeli business community and has developed significant experience helping Israeli investors expand their holdings in U.S. real estate
