

Personal Injury and Catastrophic Accidents

Shulman Rogers Personal Injury Law Firm

In Maryland and the Washington DC metro area, Shulman Rogers has been representing clients in a wide range of personal injury law matters since 1972. Our team understands what it takes to argue effectively for your interests when you've been hurt as a result of someone else's negligence. From the negotiating table to the courtroom, our primary commitment is getting you the settlement you need to recover as quickly and stress-free as possible.

Your initial consultation with one of our personal injury lawyers is always free. Schedule your appointment online today or call our toll-free number for more information.

Personal Injury Practice Areas

Shulman Rogers' personal injury attorneys offer a broad spectrum of experience and a long history of legal expertise in various matters. We understand that each personal injury case is unique, which is why we employ a collaborative approach to representation that draws on the collective insights of our entire legal team. Contact us for assistance with:

- Traffic accidents: Recovering from a car crash can be a long and emotionally exhausting process. When expensive medical bills and the potential for lost wages enter the picture, you owe it to yourself to fully investigate your options for compensation. If you've been hurt by a drunk or reckless driver, Shulman Rogers may be able to help. Our personal injury attorneys represent clients in DC and Maryland who have been injured in car, truck and motorcycle accidents.
- Truck accidents: Fighting on behalf of surviving family members and estates of deceased clients, our attorneys have successfully represented clients in truck accident cases.
- Slip and fall injuries and premises law: When unsafe premises lead to slip and fall accidents, you have a legal right to seek damages from the person or organization responsible. The personal injury lawyers at Shulman Rogers can review your case and help determine the best way forward. Contact our office today for more information.

- Dog bites: Part of being a responsible pet owner is ensuring your dog does not present a threat to others. Dog bites can be painful and emotionally traumatizing, especially for children. A personal injury lawsuit is an important way of getting compensated for these damages and can be instrumental in exposing cases of animal abuse and neglect.

Injured in an Accident?

Too often, accident victims will refuse to explore their legal options out of embarrassment or fear of getting involved in a long and drawn out lawsuit. Once medical bills and lost wages begin to mount, however, the need for compensation becomes clear. The sooner you speak with a personal injury lawyer, the better your chances will be for success down the road.

Remember, filing a personal injury lawsuit isn't about punishing those involved in the incident — it's about protecting you, your finances and your future.

To speak with a personal injury lawyer at Shulman Rogers, schedule your free consultation today.

WWW.SHULMANROGERS.COM