

Privacy and Data Protection

As data becomes its own kind of asset, protecting it requires the same rigor as protecting a patent or a brand. State privacy laws are expanding rapidly, from the CCPA in California to comprehensive frameworks in Virginia, Colorado, and beyond, alongside strict GDPR obligations in the European Union, so businesses face a growing patchwork of compliance obligations. We advise on:

- Privacy policies and data protection compliance across all 50 states and in the EU
- Domain name protection strategy
- Breach of privacy claims and disputes
- Cybersecurity breach response and notification obligations across all 50 states
- Cookie and other data collection obligations pursuant to state law
- Website compliance with state and federal regulations, including the ADA and consumer protection statutes

Privacy policies and website compliance reviews are available on a flat fee basis.